“OK everyone,” said the teacher. “Big news. Reporters and cameras from NBC are coming tomorrow to do a story on us.”

Do you know that empty lot on the corner where everyone hangs out?

Night moved in slowly. Doors closed. Windows glowed quietly. Suddenly, a high voice shouted from the street.

I always wondered about the silent old man across the street.

I can’t believe today finally came. I was out of bed so early, I had the bathroom all to myself.

My dream house...

If I could do anything in the world, I would...

You won’t believe it, but...

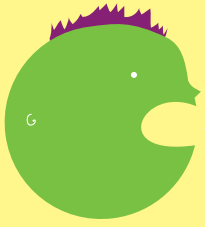

Are you going to invite...

“I’m scared.”

“Why?”

“Because of who will be there.”

Once there was an old man, alone in his boat, fishing in the Gulf of Mexico. In 24 hours, he hadn’t caught one fish.

The bags were packed, sitting by the door. It was time to go.

I want to go to the beach.

The cat was asleep in the sun.

Do you see that dog?

I have a pet frog.

What time is it?

It's late!

Last night I dreamed I went to Manderly again.

I had a farm in Africa, at the foot of Ngong Hills.

The lights are out.
